Skunks

Yadkinville is a great place to live. However, there is one thing I wonder: if there was a skunk census where would Yadkin County fall? How many skunks are here? Or more specifically, how many dead skunks are here? They are a frequent sight on these beautiful country roads.

Years ago, on a hot August day, I was driving down old 421 and encountered a deceased skunk in my lane. It did not take long for that ripe smell to rush into the car. Impulsively, I slowed down and turned the air conditioner fan on high. I soon realized that the car was being filled with that one-of-a-kind scent. I then resorted to another impulsive reaction: I turned the fan off. In that moment I had effectively sealed that aroma all around me. I was sitting in the middle of a skunk cloud! To add to the dilemma, I had slowed down while I valiantly tried to keep from being overwhelmed by skunk. My slower pace kept me in the vicinity of that odorous varmint which allowed the smell a chance to linger. After what seemed like a painfully long time, I finally found relief by opening up all the windows of the car and accelerating back up to speed. Church bulletins and food wrappers were flying around in the back seat, but it did not matter. The hot summer air was pushing that pungent smell away and I was able to continue my journey. I recently remembered that August moment when I passed six "Pepé Le Pews" in the course of the same day. However, I have learned how to respond to a dead skunk: open the windows and don't slow down!

You know, as we move through each day, we never know what we will encounter. There are many unpleasant and unprovoked difficulties that could lay in our path. They may merely be aggravating inconveniences, or they may be disruptions that challenge us in a deeper way. In times like that, what is typically your first impulse? Is it anger or blaming? Is it withdrawal or incessant worry? How much do these impulsive reactions actually help us deal with the discomfort of a frustrating moment? Often, they just serve to trap those negative emotions in the cabin of our thoughts where we rehearse them over and over. If the windows of our mind and spirit are closed, or at least distracted from the truth and promises of God, we can be stuck with the odor of a bad experience in our head. Our natural impulses are not effective in fending off such irritations. Instead, what if our initial response was to open the windows of our mind to allow the fresh air of a verse of Scripture to flow through? What if instead of reacting, we acted, and began to sing a hymn or a worship song? What if in the midst of that disgusting moment we began to pray? We may find, in most cases, that the scent of the trial begins to fade. What if instead of parking our thoughts near the place of frustration, we focus on where we are going? What if in the moments we are disrupted by an unprovoked and unexpected trial, we keep our destination in mind? As followers of Christ, we have an identity, a purpose, and a destiny that are all given by God. When we surrender ourselves over to God's panoramic view of our life in the here and now, the scent of life's hurts is put into perspective and they often begin to slip away. This is not about denial. Skunks stink. Sometimes life stinks. But God is good, and when we allow His perspective and promises to flow through our minds and spirits, He will transform our days, no matter what's in our path!

PS. Here are some good passages to tuck in your mind for those unexpected disappointments:

*Psalm 27:1, Isaiah 12:5, I Peter 5:6-7, Ephesians 2:4, James 1:3, 1:12, I John 1:9, 3:1,
Galatians 6:9, Philippians 4:8*

THOUGHT for March

The following is a true story. I have changed the names and places to protect the innocent and guilty alike. Two friends of mine, who do not know each other, and had not met until recently, are both very good people, but one is unchurched and the other is a minister. I will call them “Violet” and “Rosie”. Rosie is a believer, but does not go to church. I have known her for several years. I have known Violet my entire life. Her father was a minister, and when she grew up, she went into ministry herself. Rosie works in retail. Violet is an associate pastor at a large church.

A few weeks ago Rosie asked me if I knew Violet. Violet and I share a maiden name, so she thought I might. “I do know her”, I said. Before I could get the words “she is a minister” out of my mouth, Rosie began to tell me about an “unpleasant” encounter she had with her. Apparently, there was an honest mistake with an order Violet was expecting to receive, and even though Rosie explained what had happened, and said they would make it right, Violet was hateful about the whole situation. Let’s just say I am happy I did not mention that Violet is a minister.

As Christians, we are called to be “in the world, but not of the world”. We are called to be different; to handle situations with grace, forgiveness, and love. We are to “turn the other cheek”. Our lives preach. The world is watching. We cannot grow God’s kingdom by giving the unchurched the ammunition they need for the excuses used to not come to church. Violet was expecting her order when she arrived to pick it up. It was not there. We all would have been disappointed about that. But, being “hateful” about the situation did not get her order to her any faster. And, had I finished my sentence to Rosie about Violet being a minister, Rosie would have probably thought “Well, I may not go to church, but I do not treat people like that.” We are all human, and we make mistakes. Perhaps Violet had a hard day, and her lost order was the final straw. I do not know. What I do know is that her actions were preaching at that moment, and not in a way that would cause Rosie to want to go to church.

We must really be careful to treat others the way we want to be treated, under ALL circumstances. People are watching. It makes a difference. The Bible says we will be known by our love. We need to make sure everyone sees that side of us.

Let love and faithfulness never leave you; bind them around your neck, write them on the tablet of your heart. Then you will win favor and a good name in the sight of God and man.

- Proverbs 3: 3-4

Membership Class

Beginning Sunday, March 12th @ 4:00pm

If you are curious about what Quakers believe, this class is for you. We will study a brief history of Friends and our beliefs. We will also seek to better understand what it means to be a church member. These classes are not only informative, but they are always fun. If you have interest in becoming a member of Deep Creek Friends, or just want to understand more about Friends faith and practice then come join us!

The class will last for about 6 weeks and will meet each Sunday at 4:00pm. Class location will be announced. Please let Randy know if you would like to attend.

You can call him at 336-580-2853

One of the Core Values of Deep Creek Friends Meeting:

TRUTH

We believe the Truth is found in our Savior and Lord, Jesus Christ, as the living Word of God and in the Bible as the written Word of God.

WORSHIP, MUSIC & SUNDAY LUNCH

REVIEW

Meet the Revival Guest Speaker:

Darryl Love is a native of NC and has called High Point home since 1992. He is married to the love of his life Rhonda, and they have two kids, a “new” grandson and 2 grand pups – “life is an exciting journey for sure.”

He began in student ministry in 1992 and eventually became the lead pastor at Crossover Community Church, where he has served this church for 31 years. Darryl and Rhonda also launched a non-profit ministry dear to their hearts in 2011. Healing Place Ministries is a place of respite for ministers and spouses.

In his free time Darryl enjoys getting away to the NC Mountains.

Meet the Guest Musicians:

Friday Night: Lauren Willard is a Boonville native and has been singing with the Boonville UMC choir since 1997 and the Phatt City Band since 2010. She loves to sing and her musical influences include Aretha Franklin, Elvis Presley, Ann Wilson, and Mavis Staples. Lauren grew up listening to rock and roll, Southern gospel, blues, and bluegrass. She enjoys singing locally and is always hopeful that her performance will spread the joy of Jesus to others.

Saturday Night: Parker Love, son of Darryl, has been a worship leader since his middle school chapel days at HPCA in High Point, NC. He surrendered to the call to ministry in his freshman year of high school. He completed his undergraduate degree in Worship Ministry at Liberty University while leading worship for a local student ministry. He received his master’s degree in business management and marketing also from LU.

Parker joined the staff at Crossover Community Church in 2014 as the Worship Pastor and has since transitioned to the role of Executive Pastor. Because of his passion for worship, he continues to serve on the worship team.

What little free time he has, he enjoys outdoor rock climbing, mountain biking, disk golf and time with his wife Kaitlyn and their 6 month old son, Harlan.

Meet the Guest Kids Leader:

Friday & Saturday Nights and Sunday Morning

Emily Crouse is from Union Cross Friends where she volunteers with Children’s Church and other Children’s events and is excited and already planning for the upcoming Kids Revival with us. She is daughter-in law of Pam and the late Mike Crouse and she and her husband, Lance have a daughter.

“Be in prayer for her as she comes.”

Eastern N.C. Disaster Relief March 26 - 31, 2023

New Bern, North Carolina

We will be starting off this new year on a good note with a spring rebuild trip to New Bern. Last year, during multiple trips to New Bern, we were blessed to help build a complete house for a special lady who lost her entire house during hurricane Mathew. This year's spring trip will consist of hurricane repair work to existing homes still damaged from previous storms. Even after quite a few years, there continues to be families with no insurance or funds to repair their homes damaged by multiple hurricanes. Volunteers are the only way these homes will be repaired.

We will continue to work with the Baptists On Missions Disaster Group as we did all last year. The Baptist on Missions group requires their volunteers to submit a background check before volunteering. If you have already submitted a background check you will not be required to complete another one. If you have not completed one it is very simple and only takes a few minutes. Contact us and we can walk you through it. If you would like to participate, please contact one of the Co-Coordinator listed above as soon as possible.

Lodging : Baptists on Missions – New Bern Rebuild Center
 2108 Old Cherry Point Rd.

New Bern N.C. 252-571-6347

Meals will be provided by the Baptist on Missions group.
 (Prepared by our wonderful cooks !!!!!)

Plan on meeting Sunday afternoon, March 26th at 5:00 PM at Moore's BBQ 3621 MLK Blvd New Bern NC for a group meal.

Please share this information with everyone at your meeting/church.
